

Teen wanted for attempted Curd Road armed robbery

Tuesday, July 23, 2013

San Antonio Freeman, 17, Lebanon is wanted on many active warrants for the aggravated armed robbery attempt on Curd Road, July 11.

Freeman was the shooter in the incident. The victim was approached by two male suspects outside, who attempted to rob him. A third suspect was nearby in a vehicle. A struggle ensued, and a Freeman fired a shot toward the victim. After the shot, the suspects fled in a silver car. The victim was not hit.

Investigators have already identified and arrested two of the suspects, Roderick Majors, 23, Lebanon and Mario Newsome, 24, Nashville. Freeman is still at large and considered armed and dangerous. Freeman also has warrants on file from the Wilson County Sheriff's Department from a pursuit involving a stolen vehicle that took place Sunday, July 14.

Freeman is wanted for Aggravated Assault, Aggravated Robbery, Reckless Endangerment (three counts), Possession of a Prohibited Weapon, Felony Evading.
