Children's Trove Consignment Store will be celebrating a few things when they hold their next big sale, Feb. 12-15.

First will be the Spring and Summer kick off. Come in and get a lot of great deals on items for the warmer months. Over 7,000 items were ready for the sale as of Monday.

Second will be the new store location. They will still be in Coolview Commons, but in an unit with twice the size right next to Cinco De Mayo. This will allow them to double their inventory, and have more great deals.

The third will be their Cash Back Program, which will give a portion of the earnings to local group or person in need.

"My husband and I grew up in Mt. Juliet," said Owner Sherri Clifton. "Giving back is important to us."

When you go into Children's Trove, you can ask for a list of organizations that are participating in the Cash Back program. The organization of the customer's choice will receive 10 percent of the sale.

Children's Trove big sale to benefit those in need

Tuesday, February 11, 2014

Organizations that are already registered are Mt Juliet Middle School, Winfree-Bryant Middle School, Iris Compass Foundation, Big Brothers of Mt. Juliet, Southside Elementary, Global International and a local girl battling cerebral palsy.

Children's Trove is looking for more organizations to participate. If one is interested, contact the store at (615)288-3996.

There is a 70/30 split for consignors at Children's Trove, 60/40 if you want them to do the tagging.

The final day of the sale, Saturday, Feb. 15 will be a half price day.

After the big sale, Children's Trove will continue bringing great deals to the area in their new location.

Children's Trove is located in Coolview Commons at 14823 Lebanon Road. You can reach them at (615)288-3996.
