

Kenny Howell

Managing Editor

Some changes were made to the planning commission at their monthly meeting Thursday.

Mayor Ed Hagerty relinquished his seat to another commissioner, and a new Vice Chair was named.

Kelly Morgan will take Hagerty's place on the commission, and Lori Landry was elected as Vice Chair. Landry's position will last until the April meeting, when the commission will hold elections for Chairman and Vice Chair. Luke Winchester is the current Chairman of the commission.

In the business portion of the agenda, the commission approved two items for the Environmental Science property, which will allow them to continue to expand under their current path.

A property on the corner of W. Division Street and 2nd Avenue was rezoned from RS-40 to Commercial Town Center. There are no plans for the property at this time.

A site plan for a new office, Tennessee Implant and Oral Surgery, was also approved in the meeting.